NASTF SDRM Update

For those of you who have a NASTF Locksmith ID, here's an update:

The new SDRM 2.0 Registry software is set to release on November 5th.

If you wish to migrate your account please stand by. NASTF is rolling this out rather than inviting all VSPs at the same time. You will receive an invitation soon.

For information on how to migrate your VSP account please visit their YouTube channel and view this video

If you have an application or renewal pending please expect a call from NASTF enlisting your help to register you into the new system.

For more information about the VSP program and what NASTF is working on, please visit their website

They will respond as quickly as they can. There are over 12,000 of you, so please be patient.

We urge affected workshops to always monitor the NASTF web site for topic updates.

CAL_ID News

We have launched a new CAL_ID Database, which is available at the links below.

Once you're on the applicable website, click the CAL_ID icon and enter your vehicle configuration. You can also reach the CAL_ID database from erWin. They are free and available without an erWin subscription.

ODIS Service Self-Study Guide

For those of you that have recently subscribed to use the ODIS Service diagnostic software and are unfamiliar with how to perform its guided diagnostic procedures, we've posted the official factory Self-Study Guide for your use.

Look under the Vehicle Diagnostics & Reprogramming tab, and select the ODIS Self Study Guide from the Help submenu.

This self-study guide contains job aids that are designed to help you quickly move through the various ODIS Service application functions.
